INTERACT123® Solution

Pioneering application for all educators working across all learning formats:

- Calculate, manage, and monitor student workload with assigned credit hours across all formats
- Map courses in alignment with assigned credit hours
- Demonstrate academic engagement for online courses including predictable and scheduled interaction in alignment with new regulations
- Customize drop down options for instruction, course activities, assessment, feedback, and more
- Support multiple means of engagement, representation, and action and expression
- Create alternative equivalencies for instruction and activities for online courses and remote learning
- Utilize real-time data and graphics through the interactive dashboard and "reading estimator"
- Use the course conspectus for lesson planning, new course development, and course review
- Prepare for course, program, licensure, accreditation, and substantive change reviews
- Migrate seamlessly from quarter system to semester system or semester to trimester system
- Verify policies and procedures are consistently applied to programs/courses across learning formats
- Complement student retention platforms by examining student workload and academic engagement

Innovation Across Learning Formats

Cloud-based application supports:

- Collaboration
- Innovation in course design and redesign
- Academic engagement and transfer of learning
- Extensive dropdowns to easily pivot across formats

Testimonials

- "The tool is vitally important. There is a big gap between faculty time estimate and actual student time for completion of these assignments."
- "Makes everything transparent. Every student should know what to expect from a 3-4 credit course."
- "I love the idea of faculty being able to map out their courses into a blueprint that does the work for them in many ways."
- "Provides a semblance of reliability – a three-hour quarter course means a three-hour quarter course no matter how it is taught (online, hybrid, onsite)."

Ideal for Preparation

INTERACT123® assists institutions with preparation for:

- New course design and redesign
- Course and program reviews
- Pivoting across learning formats: (face-to-face, hybrid, HyFlex, online, remote learning)
- Accreditation
- Licensure
- Substantive Change
